Outstanding Member Awards Presented to Junior FHAers

At the annual Mother-Member Junior Future Homemakers of America banquet held at the Appomattox Middle School cafeteria last Thursday night, eleven members were presented the Outstanding Member Award.

These members were chosen by the Executive Council for the following accomplishments: modeled in the Fall Fashion Show, skated in the Chapter and Federation skating parties, played volleyball in the FHA tournament, sold oil lamps and donuts and spirit sticks, participated in the Federation Rally, planned and presented a Me-Shop for the Chapter program one meeting, and had enthusiasm for FHA all year long.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT SEMINAR - Among those attending the recent Industrial Development Seminar held in Farmville are Floyd E. Williams, assistant vice president and loan officer of Fidelity American Bank in Appomattox; Roy A. Moon and E. J. Sizemore, senior vice president, Fidelity American Bank.

Industrial Development Seminar Held

Approximately 70 business leaders and local governmental officials from 12 Virginia communities met recently at Wedgewood Country Club in Farmville to attend an industrial development seminar sponsored by Fidelity American Bank, N.A. in cooperation with the Governor's Office, Division of Industrial Development.

The purpose of the meeting was to encourage and facilitate local efforts to bring new industry into Southside Virginia.

The group was welcomed by Lewis B. Goode, Jr., president of Fidelity, who stressed the bank's interest in the growth and economic expansion of the Southside area.

Speakers for the seminar included Larry P. Johnson, Jr., Director of Community Development, Virginia Division of Industrial Development; Mark R. Kilduff, Assistant Director of Research for the division; June M. Bachtell, the division's industrial research specialist; Russell G. Hanson, an industrial development for Southern Railway System.

In addition to the speakers, a film was shown on an industrial development project in one small southern city, in which early mistakes in planning were successfully overcome.

Federal business and economic development programs were covered in the discussion.

Each of those attending the seminar also received a printed guide, "Are You Ready", on community preparedness for industrial development published by the state's Division of Industrial Development.

Fidelity officers who arranged the seminar were Dr. William F. Quillian, Senior Vice President and George R. Gosey, Jr., Vice President and National Accounts Officer.

FISHIN' TIPS

from . . . Tom Mann

Ever notice how some fishermen seem to come home regularly with fish, while others have a hard time catching enough to mess up a skillet? Some call it luck, but I call it skill.

A good fisherman gets that way by fishing a lot, by observing and remembering what he experiences, and by going every chance he gets. He also fishes numerous lakes and streams, not just one or two.

This is important because lakes and streams have their good and bad cycles. I keep notes on dates and numbers of fish caught, and try to figure which places are in their good cycles. Another wise way is to ask questions of your fishing buddies, tackle shops, guides, etc., where fish are being caught and on what.

A good fisherman also keeps his tackle in tiptop shape so it won't malfunction on him, and he keeps his lures in motion all day long, letting the fish tell him which one, or color, they want. Yep, fishing can be luck but most of the time it's a matter of dedication and knowhow.

BRER TOM'S CLOSING TIP: Your fishing line is the vital link between you and the biggest fish of your lifetime. Keep the terminal end strong by cutting off worn line which is weaker. And whenever a line gets stiff, replace it with new line and fish with confidence. There are two things a fisherman should keep fresh—his line and his fish!

MONEY SAVING TIP: Read the permanent care label in a new garment before washing. Follow the manufacturer's care instructions to avoid washing mistakes that might damage the clothing item.

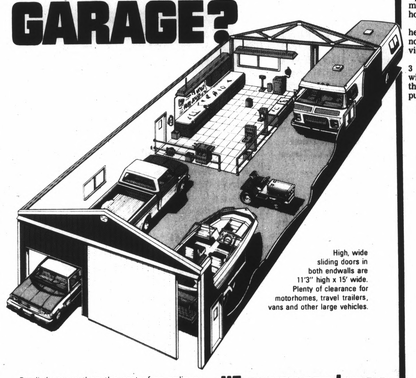
Why Settle for a GARAGE?



High, wide sliding doors in both endwalls are 11'3" high x 15' wide. Plenty of clearance for motorhomes, travel trailers, vans and other large vehicles.

For little more than the cost of an ordinary garage, you can enjoy the organized, uncluttered life that goes right along with a Sportsman utility building. This beautiful, maintenance-free building is the practical answer to 'where am I going to put everything?' There's plenty of room for all the things you want to protect—cars, trucks, trailers, motorhomes, boats, etc.—with lots of space left over for a workshop or hobby area, if you like. It's a wonderful way of life. Why settle for less?

"The South 40" by JAMES A. SMITH EXTENSION AGENT

The Feeder Cattle sales started out this spring pretty much as expected. In Lynchburg 985 head of steers, weighing 624 pounds, averaged $89.64 and 518 heifers, weighing 542 pounds, averaged $80.15.

In Farmville 266 steers averaging 559 pounds brought $91.20 while 202 heifers, averaging 475 pounds, brought $76.96

There were four feeder sales the first week with 3,856 head sold. Numbers were 17 percent below a year earlier. Steers weighed 47 pounds more and heifers 22 pounds over last year. The average price of steers at $90.35 compares with $56.35 for steers at the same four sales a year ago or up about $35.50 per hundred. Heifers at the first four sales averaged $79.59, compared with $45.28 a year earlier, up $34.30 per hundred.

WANTED a location for cutworm control test on tobacco in 1979.

There is a serious need for additional information on cutworm control on tobacco. If you have a situation where you believe a cutworm problem will appear, we would like to evaluate several materials.

We have one company who will provide the labor for putting out this material and take damage ratings and also pay any damage incurred in their plots after the tests are initiated.

Give me a call if you are interested.

Ohio reports on a 4-year study of soybean yields where yields ranged from 29.4 bushels per acre to 55.2 bushels. The study consisted of all possible combinations of: three dates of planting, two row widths; three seeding rates and varieties.

When all factors were considered, planting date had by far the greatest effects on yields. The highest yielding variety was planted May 10 in rows spaced 15 inches apart and seeded at 80 pounds per acre. The lowest yield was recorded with a June 10 planting date, rows spaced 30 inches apart and seeded at 40 pounds per acre.

There's a very optimistic outlook for beans again this year and a good profit outlook when they are managed properly.

DHIA costs will go up slightly—2 cents per sample for laboratory butterfat testing. This represents the first increase since 1971. Has anything else been so slow in rising?

This office will be serving as the depository for the draft of Best Management Practices Handbooks. Public hearings will be held in May. The public is invited to review these handbooks.

Thee are actually six handbooks relating to urban, agriculture, surface mining, sources affecting ground water, forestry and hydrologic modifications.

We will advise when these handbooks are received. You are urged to look those over that will affect your operation and participate in the public hearings.

The question of what I should charge or what should I pay for leasing land for hav is often raised. If you have this question, there's a publication in our office that I believe will help answer this question for you.
